Functional & Usability Testing Assignment — kraftshala.com

“Important Note: Kindly read the assignment properly and understand the assignment as it was an easy assignment and once you are done with your assignments kindly give the access for anyone can view otherwise your assignment will simply get rejected while you are submitting ”

Objective: Test the static website kraftshala.com with a focus on the available forms (such as contact, application, or sign-up forms), and identify functional, UI/UX, and responsiveness issues.

Scope of Testing:

1. Forms:

- a. Identify and test all the form flows present on the website (e.g., "Get in touch", "Apply Now", etc.)
- b. Test for:
 - Required fields
 - Field validation (email, phone, etc.)
 - Error handling
 - Edge cases (long input, special characters, invalid data)
- c. While filling out the forms, please make sure to write your name as 'Test Lead' and not your actual name.

2. Functional Testing:

- a. Links and buttons
- b. Page navigation
- c. Expected redirections after submission

3. UI/UX Observations:

- a. Mobile vs Desktop responsiveness
- b. Layout and content visibility
- c. Any broken UI elements or overlaps

4. Browser Compatibility:

- a. Test on at least 2 browsers (e.g., Chrome, Firefox)

What you need to submit:

1. A bug report (Google Doc, Google Sheet, or Notion) with:
 - a. Issue description
 - b. Steps to reproduce
 - c. Expected vs Actual behavior
 - d. Screenshot/video (optional but preferred)
 - e. Severity level (High/Medium/Low)
2. (Optional) Suggestions for improving the form experience

Notes:

- You do not need access to backend or response data - treat this as a black-box test.
- If any form submission fails or shows an error, include that in your report.

For your submission:

- Please work on either a Google Doc / Google Sheet / Notion
- Nomenclature for the File: 'Your Name_Software Tester'
- Change the settings of the file to "anyone with a link can view"
- Copy the link of your Google Doc / Google Sheets / Notion file
- Paste it in the Submission Form Link given in the email titled 'Update II Kraftshala'
